

RULES OF THE CARD GAME IMPERTINENT QUESTIONS

This is an amusing and entertaining Card Game for Parties. It can be played by any number of Players. It is played with a Pack of 64 Cards, 32 of these cards have two Questions printed on each of them, and the other 32 have two Answers printed on each of them; these two packs must not be mixed. Players sit in two equal rows opposite each other. The Hostess, or person in charge, then shuffles each pack separately, and proceeds to deal one card from the Questions Pack to each player on one side, and one card from the Answers Pack to each player on the opposite side, FACE DOWNWARDS. The first player on the side to whom the questions have been dealt then turns up his card, and asks the player opposite the Question which is printed on the TOP of the card; the player asked then turns up his card, and makes the reply printed at the TOP of his card.

Thus Question:—"Have you any holes in your Stockings?"

Answer:—"Yes, but only on Saturday night."

or again Q.:—"Do you ever get drunk?"

A.:—"Yes, when I am far from home."

The cards are then turned FACE DOWNWARDS in front of the players. This proceeds until each player has asked a Question and has been answered, thus keeping the Company in a continual roar of laughter. The procedure is then repeated with the Questions and Answers printed at the other end of the cards.

The cards are then collected and a fresh deal made. When the two packs are used up, they are re-shuffled (each pack separately) and the players who received Questions last time, receive Answers and vice versa. It will be seen combinations of Questions and Answers are almost unlimited, and endless amusement and fun can be obtained.

Another way of arranging your players is for Ladies to be on one side and Gentlemen opposite.

Copyright by LONDON
H. P. GIBSON & SONS, Ltd.,